Run off the alphabet letters so that your students can choose either their first or last initial to make a tail for their bookmark.

You could also use these to make stationery for moms for a Mother's Day gift.

When I am running off an alphabet for my class I make a template of a letter that I have a lot of. One year I had 6 J names, so I just cut out the J and printed that 6 times, so you may want to make a master template to save, and then cut and paste only the letters you need to make another template.

Have fun with your Victorian bookmarks.

These letters were made from woodcuts and are courtesy of ClipArtEtc
