

This activity helps with Common Core State Standard: RF.1.1
Students will enjoy going hog wild as they hunt for these 12 pig sentence cards that are missing a capital letter and end punctuation.

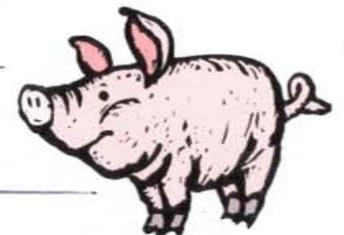

- Laminate your cards.
- Decide which 10 you want to use for the pigs out of the pen hunt and number them with a dry erase marker.
- If you use a permanent marker, a Mr. Clean Eraser will wipe off the numbers.
- Put a magnet on the back, so students can put the cards up on your white board, or use a pocket chart for them to tuck them in.
- Sprinkle the cards around the room.
- Students find them and put them on the white board or in your pocket chart in 1-10 order, so that they can rewrite the sentences on their recording sheet, putting in a beginning capital letter, and the appropriate punctuation.
- Before students take their seats and work on their own papers, read the cards as a whole group, adding inflection so that students can determine where an exclamation mark goes.
- When everyone is done, have students gather in front of the board and have them take turns filling in the correct answers with a red dry erase marker.
- A nice "get the wiggles out" activity to do afterwards, is to do the Pig Pokey and have students shake themselves about.
- Later, you can use different sentences and use the recording sheets as an assessment.
- This packet also includes a certificate of praise.

Piggy Punctuation and Capitalization

Directions: The pigs have gotten out of their pen! Find the pig cards that are scattered around the room. Place them on the board, in the correct order. Write the numbered sentence that matches the numbered pig card on the lines below. Make sure that you use proper capitalization and end with the appropriate punctuation mark. Circle your capital letters and punctuation marks.

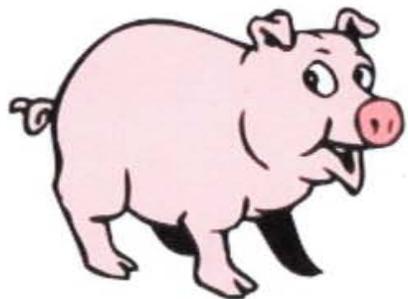

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____
9. _____
10. _____

the pig is pink

the pig is hungry

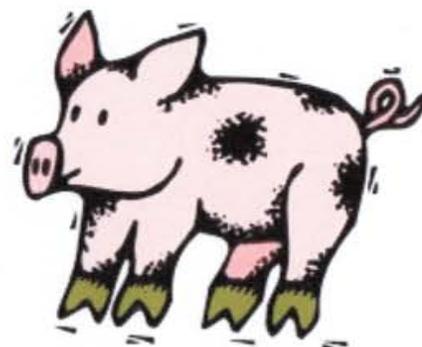

the pig says oink

how many baby pigs do you see

is this pig cute

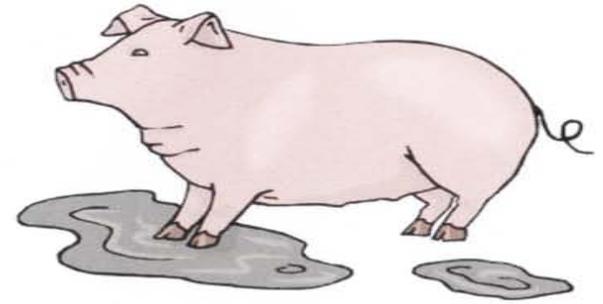

yuk this pig is dirty

do you like pigs

pigs like mud

do you have a bank

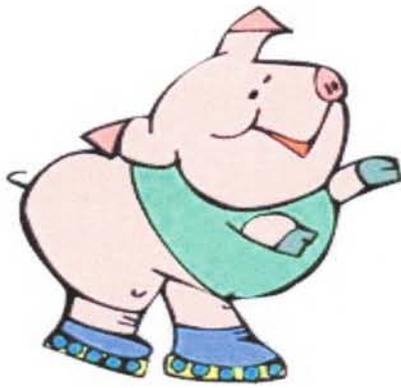

pee-yew this pig stinks

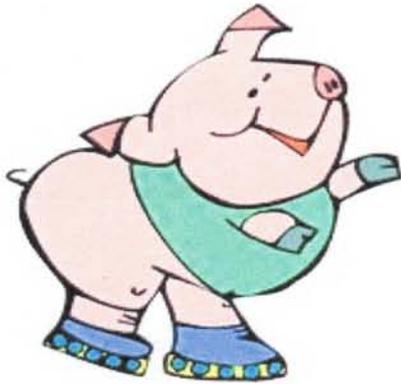

can pigs fly

this pig has a t-shirt

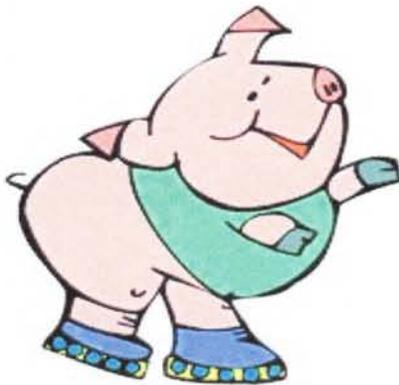

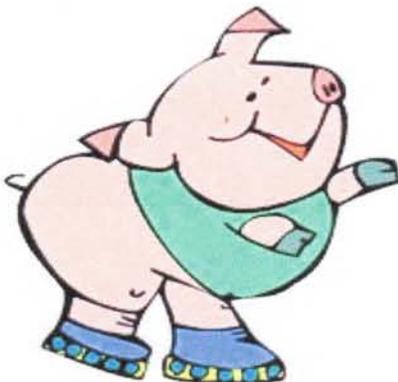

Going Hog Wild over the fact
that is very good at capitalization
and punctuation!

Going Hog Wild over the fact
that
is very good at capitalization
and punctuation!

Going Hog Wild over the fact
that
is very good at capitalization
and punctuation!

Going Hog Wild over the fact
that
is very good at capitalization
and punctuation!

