There were 5 dinosaurs.
1 disappeared. That left 4.

$$5 - 1 = 4$$

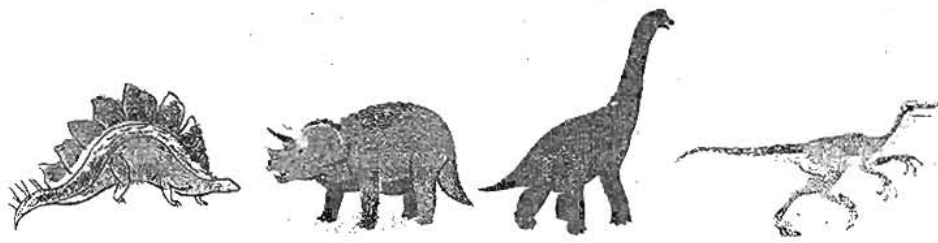

$$\begin{array}{r} 5 \\ - 1 \\ \hline \end{array}$$

Where did all the dinosaurs go?

They're EXTINCT!

They're EXTINCT!

Discussion, Graphing & Writing Extensions For *Where Have All The Dinosaurs Gone?

Writing:

- Students write 5 “quick” endings of their own.
- Children share 1 or 2 of their endings with the class.

Discussion:

- Did you like the ending?
- Can you think of a better one?
- Where else could they have gone?

Math Extension:

- Teacher writes a list of the student’s ideas on the board.
- Choose three of the ideas + the book ending and GRAPH the favorite ending of the class.

Here are some of my new “Quick Endings”

1. They’re down at the swamp doing the Dino Stomp.
2. They are fossil bones in fossil stones.
3. They are out to lunch! The herbivores are eating plants, the carnivores are eating meat, and the omnivores are eating whatever they want!
4. They are roaming the earth 1,000’s of years ago.
5. They are laying eggs and avoiding lava from spouting volcanoes!

Did your class come up with some cute and clever ones?
Please share with us and I’ll post them on the Blog! Thanks. ☺
