For younger students' folders I used the word and instead of assignments.

Date:
Dear Families,

This is your child's "Snail Mail" folder.
Throughout the week I will be filling it with their school work, notes, and important letters.

The folder will go home every _____.
Please take it out of their backpack and look things over with your child.

Asking them why and how they did something, reviews lessons and lets your child know that what they are doing is important.
Hanging up something, as well as praising their efforts, helps build self-esteem.

If you make it a habit to empty the folder when they get home and then put it right back in their pack, the folder won't be forgotten or get lost.

Thanks in advance for your cooperation.

Educationally Yours,
