The packet includes 24 poster rules. They come 2-on-a page to conserve paper and ink. I printed mine on card stock then laminated. You can keep them separate and hang on the wall, or attach with a split ring to make a booklet. I've included a cover and last page for this.

My students absolutely LOVE this activity.

Rules can get tedious & boring, so this activity is a super-fun way to check comprehension, at the same time reviewing & reinforcing the rules.

Bus Safety Do or Don't?

1. Let the pigeon drive the bus.
2. Toss a ball to a friend in the back.
3. Keep your hands to yourself.
4. Talk to strangers.
5. Line up single file.
6. Put your backpack in the aisle.
7. Stick your arms out the window to wave.
8. Be polite and kind.
9. Stay seated until the bus comes to a complete stop.
10. YELL "Hello" to your friends in the back.
11. Use an inside voice.
12. Eat on the bus.
13. Hang on to the railing.
14. Walk BEHIND the bus.
15. Listen to the driver.

Bus Safety Do or Don't?

Let the pigeon drive the bus.

Don't contact with the driver to see if it's safe.

Don't hang your arms out the window then right, then left again before the bus starts.

Don't put your backpack on the floor at a railroad crossing.

Don't talk to strangers in the aisle clear.

Don't run forward with your feet on the floor.

Don't get up until the bus has completely stopped. Let the bus to get something you need.

Don't put your belongings together just before your stop.

Don't stick your head out the window to get some fresh air.

Don't talk to the driver.

Don't touch the handles on the emergency exit.

Don't get off the bus until the driver says it's safe.

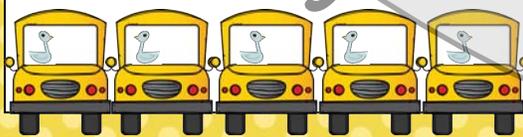

Don't run for traffic.

Don't walk in front of the "Danger Zone".

Students make a "Pigeon Popsicle stick Puppet Paddle!"

Teacher reads the statements. Students figure out if this is a "Do" or a "Don't" then face the appropriate colored circle of their puppet paddle towards you.

Red = Stop! Don't.
Such as "Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus".
Green = Go! Do.

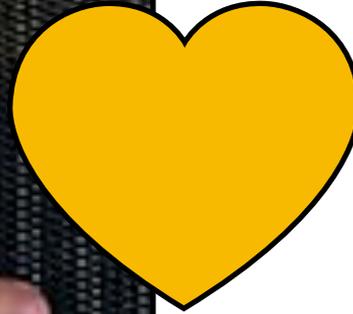

For an independent center activity, print, laminate & trim the 24 "Do" and "Don't" cards for students to sort. Includes header cards. There are 12 cards on a one-page pattern. You can also pass the cards out to students, then ask them to show and share the card they are holding and tell whether this is a "Do" or a "Don't" rule.

I know bus safety!

"Paper Praise" slap bracelets.
Slap them on with a piece of
Scotch tape at the end of the day.
Parents will read and hopefully ask their child what they learned.
10 on a one-page pattern.

High 5s from Kaiden
who knows bus safety!

We read "Don't Let the Pigeon Drive the Bus" and learned bus safety. Ask me to tell you about it.

Bookmarks with 12 to a one-page pattern.

Paper Praise

Inexpensive necklace. Strengthen finger muscles & improve dexterity, while practicing counting, making a pattern etc. I used "pony beads" and cut up plastic straws for extra things to string. You can buy both at The Dollar Store.
