

Mia You've
got a special
place
in my heart.
Happy
Valentine's
Day
to a
super
student!

If you want to do something special for your students this year, it only takes about  $\frac{1}{2}$  an hour to make 2-dozen valentine bookmarks for them.

They make a nice keepsake and something they can use for the upcoming March is Reading Month activities.

Here's how:

Using a paper cutter cut red construction or scrapbook paper into 11x3 strips.

Punch a heart shape in the bottom of the bookmark. My paper punch was 2 inches tall.

Make a color copy of your class composite. Cut children's individual pictures out and tape or glue them to the back of the heart window.

Run off the "You've got a special place in my heart..." saying; cut the strips out and glue one to the middle of a bookmark.

Write your students' names on the top.

Sign your name to the back.

Laminate them for durability.

If you want, tape a lollipop on the back so that it peeks out of the top.

You've
got
a
special
place
in
my
heart.
Happy
Valentine's
Day
to a
super
student

You've
got
a
special
place
in
my
heart.
Happy
Valentine's
Day
to a
super
student

You've
got
a
special
place
in
my
heart.
Happy
Valentine's
Day
to a
super
student

You've
got
a
special
place
in
my
heart.
Happy
Valentine's
Day
to a
super
student